

Accessible version of the overview of 'Transition to Leeds'.

This image is a map which shows when the contents of the 'Transition to Leeds' webpages will be available for students.

The map shows a timeline which consists of three boxes. The first box contains the word 'October', the second contains the word 'November', and the third contains the word 'December'.

The map shows that in October, the following content will be available in Transition to Leeds:

- Careers and employability
- Networking
- The Leeds community and Leeds University Union (Introduction to Black History Month)

In November, the following content will be available in Transition to Leeds:

- Getting Started at Leeds: Arriving and Joining
- Getting Started at Leeds: Developing and Planning
- Skills Support Resources

In December, the following content will be available in Transition to Leeds:

- Registration
- Countdown to studies

An arrow along the bottom of the timeline shows that, from late October, there will also be Faculty and school-based wider reading available.
